laso[®] Oil

Emu oil fat lipids mimic those found in the top layer of the skin. It is almost 100% pure in triglyceride lipid content. This compound is similar to the fatty acids naturally found in human skin and can be absorbed faster than other oils and creams.

Skin Benefits

This oil smooths and conditions the skin on rough elbows, knees, and heels. You can also use it to soften and moisturize hands and cuticles.

laso[®] Oil reduces the itching and flakiness associated with dry skin and can protect the face and hands from the effects of weather. It's also an excellent choice for use in the removal of makeup.

Health Benefits

Apply laso[®] Oil to the skin for the relief of muscle soreness, aching joints, carpal tunnel syndrome, sciatica, shin splints, and gout. It is also used to improve the healing of wounds, cuts, and burns.

laso[®] Oil can be applied to the skin to help alleviate athlete's foot, diaper rash, canker sores and chapped lips. Other uses of this oil include moisturizing dry skin, reducing dandruff and eczema and smoothing wrinkles. It can also be used to protect skin from sun damage and to promote more youthful looking skin.
